Care Transformation Collaborative of RI is thrilled to host the NCQA Health Equity Accreditation Training as a special learning opportunity at our highly anticipated annual conference!

About the training

NCQA's Health Equity Accreditation gives health care organizations—including health plans, managed behavioral healthcare organizations, health systems, hospitals and wellness and population health programs—an actionable framework for creating the structures and processes to begin working toward addressing health equity. Organizations that earn Health Equity Accreditation will be better positioned as high-quality business partners with an ongoing commitment to health equity. Attend this in-person session to gain in-depth knowledge from the architects of the new NCQA Health Equity Accreditation program and the developers of the new standards. For organizations interested in learning more about the Health Equity Accreditation standards and guidelines, this session is an opportunity to hear more about the program and its requirements, and ask your questions live. Visit NCQA's website to learn more about this training. View the agenda here
